To the Editor & Staff:
Bamfield Community 'n' School Newspaper

I'm from Portland, Oregon, U.S.A. and am an advisor for a high school newspaper. It was a delight to read your paper. You have a great start. We too sell ad space for our paper and I was surprised to see how many businesses there are in this area. The newspaper provides a wonderful overview of the area that most of us would have trouble getting without your effort. It was also interesting that there is so much art going on in your community. The double page map in the center helped me with an overview of the area. You have all the elements for the making of some great reporters.

Merry Andrew Marionettes Perform in Bamfield

A finely tuned theatrical tradition! A centuries old art-form! Such is the evening fare on stage at the Bamfield Community Hall Friday evening. The Merry Andrew Marionettes, a non-profit organization based in Lantzville, B.C., brings the ancient art of marionettes back to life in a repertoire of shows that is dazzling audiences everywhere.

Sheila Conway, founder and director of the Merry Andrew Marionettes, has been deftly pulling strings and making magic happen for well over 30 years. The company's name owes its origin to the travelling puppets of 17th century England, called 'Merry Andrew'.

'Marionette' stems from the Italian for 'little Mary'. During the middle ages, priests cleverly used these actors in miniature to enlighten the largely illiterate masses. In time the plays gained popularity and became far too bulky and course for the religious authorities and they were banished to the streets where they continued to flourish, aimed mainly at entertaining children.

But those who think of puppetry as mere childstuff are in for a big surprise, for adults and children alike are spellbound by the lulling and jesting figures on stage. And as in all theatre, marionettes allow us to sit back and see ourselves in a different light and perhaps even give us an insight as to what life is all about.

The company presently numbers seven people, five of whom will perform in Bamfield. In their hands, the 30" puppets will be magically transformed into actors, each with their own unique personality. Becoming 'one with the puppet' is the culmination of a long creative process that begins with selecting the wood, carving and joining the intricate parts, then sculpting and painting the head and finally dress making and costume design. In feature length plays each costume change is a different marionette! In the making of their own puppets, the puppeteers relate to them entirely by the time they start to move. And move they do! The creative process doesn't end there, there remains writing plays, designing and painting sets, selecting a soundtrack and of course the overall production.

The Merry Andrew Marionettes in performance at the Bamfield Community Hall, Oct. 1st at 7:30 p.m. A fun filled variety hall show aimed to please audiences young and old. Don't miss the great bonus savings on advance ticket sales. Tickets available at Ostrums, Kamshee, Bamfield General and Marine Station. See you there!

* The Merry Andrew Marionettes performance is sponsored by the Parent Action Committee at Eric Godson School. Community support at these special events will help us to sponsor more of the same.

PAC Report by Kitty Lloyd

The Parents' Group at the school has already been busy organizing activities and events for Eric Godson students. We are happy to welcome some new faces at the school. Mr. Bruce Wallace is our new principal, and he brings with him many years experience as an elementary school principal in Nanaimo. Already he has made a positive change at the school by unplugging that awful buzzer and dusting off the old handbell - thank you! Several children from Kildonan are attending Eric Godson School this year, as well as two new children from the Marine Station, and a new crop of kindergarten students.

Thanks are due to Louis Druehl and Rae Hopkins who donated the sale of a truck canopy to the PAC. The money earned from that ($250) as well as other fundraising throughout the upcoming year will go towards cultural events here in Bamfield, field trips to Port Alberni for other events, and towards a trip to Vancouver in the spring for the senior class.

Don't miss the Merry Andrew Marionettes coming to the Community Hall October 1st. It promises to be a great performance! Our fall bottle drive is being held Oct. 3rd, and we're planning to hold a dance sometime later this season.

At our first PAC meeting, we elected the new officers for the 1993-4 year: Cate Weir-President, Kitty Lloyd-Vice-President, Cathie Findlay-Brook - Secretary-Treasurer.

Barkley Sound Planning Strategy

Draft for Public Review

Public Open Houses

Open Houses to review and discuss the Draft Strategy will be held from 6:00-9:00 pm at the following locations:

* October 5 - Bamfield Community Hall

October 6 - Ucluelet Provincial Courtroom

October 7 - Port Alberni - Alberni-Clayoquot Regional District Boardroom, 3008-5th Ave.

Study Purpose

Barkley Sound, along with the adjacent Alberni Inlet, is a combination of open waters, islands and fjords facing the Pacific Ocean on the west coast of Vancouver Island. It is an area renowned for its scenery, boating, fishing, wildlife, wilderness character and cultural history. In recent years, recreation use and development have substantially increased, creating a need for an overall planning strategy for the area.

The purpose of the Barkley Sound Planning Strategy is to guide the long-term use and development of Barkley Sound and Alberni Inlet and the management of lands and resources by various government agencies, native organizations and others. This is a cooperative strategy based on a mutual concern for the future of Barkley Sound.

The Strategy will assist in resolving land use conflicts, maintaining environmental quality and determining the appropriate amount of development.

The area to which the Strategy applies includes all of the waters and shorelines of Barkley Sound and Alberni Inlet up to 1000m upland of high water or 100m elevation

There are three parts to the Barkley Sound Planning Strategy:

1. A review of the issues and trends in land use and development, management of resources and recreation and tourism.
2. A set of goals, objectives and guidelines. Eight major goals are presented based on technical overview and public discussions. They define the strategic priorities for Barkley Sound.
3. An area designation system which is intended to guide the allocation of land and water uses in Barkley Sound.

Principles

The following six principles have been used to assist the formulation of the Strategy and are the basis for many of the policies and guidelines.

1. Resource Sustainability
2. Environmental Significance
3. Development Sustainability
4. Community Involvement
5. Land and Sea Claims
6. Inter-Agency Cooperation

"Cooperation is necessary to preserve the environment, maintain water quality, and manage fisheries in Barkley Sound."

If you would like to read the 60 page report, the Regional Director and the Bamfield Preservation + Development Society have copies.

THE PASSING OF FRIENDS

by Ebba Jennings

A host of friends and family gathered in Port Alberni this June for the passing of Joe Lamb, who passed away at the age of 82 on May 31, and then later for his wife Vera - known to everyone as "Sis", who at 78 passed away July 15. Mary Scholey officiated. My first memories of them was when Joe was logging in the Canal, a small boat chugging along, a young girl on deck with a child and another being rocked in a stroller. The little tugs didn't have deck and gunwale seats. From the camp at Poett's Nook to another in Bamfield - Bamfield south and Grappler Creek, Sis raised her family of three sons and a daughter and cooked for the crew of men that felled the trees and yarded them out with the A frame for the boom tow to Port. Joe had a great sense of humour all through his working years, the days of being a wharfinger on the docks, and there was always that cheery smile and wave when you passed by on the boardwalk and noticed him sawing a log on the beach or repairing a float. His wife of over 50 years had the patience of a saint, as I'm sure she never knew how many she had to cook for as each day passed, and Joe's crew came and went. Then as the three boys, Bob, Gordy, Doug and daughter Marilyn grew up it meant a few more kids and hungry teenagers for a piece of pie, donut and fresh baked bun. Two small girls liked to go on oil deliveries to the floating camp in case there might be fresh donuts. They lost their home on their floating camp one year in a fire and had to begin afresh along the boardwalk and then later a trailer in Port Alberni so it was easier for a grandchild to attend high school. Her small garden of flowers and plants were a joy and pleasure for Mrs. Lamb and in between she found time for many a crocheted doily or article. For many years she was janitor at the school and part-time telephone operator.

Hearts ached, not only for the immediate family, but for Joe's mother, Mary Lamb, a capable active soul despite her over 100 years. They had seven grandchildren from Newfoundland to B.C. - great-grandchildren, nephews, nieces, as well as brothers and sisters.

August 31 brought word of the passing of Bert Jones at the age of 89, and once again the community, friends and family gathered, this time at Bamfield United Church, to share with Hazel her loss of a husband for over 50 years. Reverend Mary Steele officiated.

Jones, as he was known to many, or Uncle Bert, arrived in Bamfield in 1946 to work at the C.O.T.C., retiring at the time of the dismantling of the Cable Station. He then became a part time commercial fisherman and school boat operator. He loved animals and was great with children, always with a cheery word as they passed by. He was not an idle man, but one who would lend a hand with building or clearing, laying wire, and latterly despite his cane helping with the lawn and watering the garden for Hazel. A member of different committees, B.V.F.D., Centennial Park, A.P.C., Beach barbeques, a driver for so many neighbours that needed a ride to Port to shop or the teenager who needed a lift home from school. He was just Jones - there when you needed him with his sense of humour and kindness. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife Hazel, a sister and nephews, and a host of friends on both sides of the border.

This community is richer for the lives of these folk who, each in their own way, helped to build it over the years, and they saw many changes as the community grew. It is always sad when age weakens the links of friendship with us. We mourn, we are sad, and then remembrance comes with that small thing, a flower, a log, a car ride, a dog, and memory returns to a happy incident and the knowledge that although our chain is now broken here another link has been added to that other chain in that other garden - on that other shore until we too join them once more.

May His peace, blessings and comfort be with their families and friends in their days of need.

Chamber of Commerce News

Chamber of Commerce raffle has been drawn. The lucky winner of the of the Babe Gunn sculpture was a local Heather Brook. Diane Gosselin of St-Hilaire Que. was the lucky winner of the George Nookemus Carving.

The Chamber of Commerce is still promoting Bamfield to the outside world by using brochures and a new kiosk in the Victoria air port. The advertising is intended to portray Bamfield as a destination point rather than portraying a specific segment of the resort industry, leaning towards more eco tourism.

The Chamber of Commerce membership is made up of local businesses, artists and community oriented people. The Chamber of Commerce is always welcoming any new members. Any person wishing for more information on becoming a member contact Bill Mather or any other Chamber of Commerce member.

It's always a great pleasure to visit with my family and renew friendships here in Bamfield. This year I arranged my annual trip in order to greet a beautiful new grand-daughter born to Margariet and Marty on Sept. 19. How wonderful it is to share this special time with my daughter; after school tea with Sacha, Alisson and Sonia; to chat with Agnes and Stuart, and to see so many of you again on the roads, boardwalk, etc. I appreciate your welcome and warm hospitality, and look forward each year to my return.

Report on Bamfield Arts Fest '93

August 14th & 15th at Centennial Park the Bamfield Arts Council presented the 1st Annual Bamfield Arts Fest. Over the two days two hundred people came to : enjoy the atmosphere, explore the displays of arts and crafts, play at the Imagination Market, have their faces painted, create fish prints and gorge themselves on gourmet treats.

All the vendors were most pleased with their success. The Arts Council raised enough money to cover the printing cost of their newly printed T-shirts with our terrific Logo designed by Cate Weir and Ian Crocker. Next year's Festival is already being planned, if you want any input come to a meeting, we'd like to hear your ideas!

The Bamfield Arts Council wishes to express a sincere thankyou to all who made the 1993 Arts Festival such a success: the artists and vendors, the multitude of volunteers, the musicians, those of you who baked such delectable treats, Stan and Joan for helping us dance the night away, other Community groups for their assistance, the crew of the Lady Rose for depositing their passengers in Port Desire and, for generously donating prizes, Aguilar House, Babe Gunn, Bamfield Express and the Bamfield Inn. THANKYOU !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
